- (a) Ctesias (b) Pliny
(c) Ptolemy (d) Strabo
(e) None of the above/More than one of the above

64th B.P.S.C. (Pre) 2018

Ans. (e)

The Periplus of the Erythraean Sea or Periplus of the Red Sea is a Greco-Roman periplus written in Koine Greek that describes navigation and trading opportunities from Roman Egyptian ports like Berenice Troglodytica along the Coast of Red Sea and others along the Horn of Africa, the Sindh region of Pakistan, along with southwestern regions of India. The text has been ascribed to different dates between the first and the third century. A mid-first century date is now the most commonly accepted. While the author is unknown, it is clearly a first-hand description by someone familiar with the area and is nearly unique in providing accurate insights into what the ancient European world knew about the lands around the Indian Ocean.
