

4. Home Rule Movement was symbol of starting a new phase of freedom movement in India because :

- (a) It put a perfect project for the self-Government before the nation
- (b) Leadership of the movement came in the hands of Gandhiji
- (c) Hindus and Muslims started to struggle jointly
- (d) It established co-ordination between extremists and moderates

41st B.P.S.C. (Pre) 1996

Ans. (a)

It is true that Home Rule Movement was a symbol of starting a new phase of Freedom Movement in India because it put a perfect picture of the self-governance before the Nation. The object of this Home Rule League was to attain Home-Rule or Self-Governance within the British Empire by all Constitutional means and to educate and organize public opinion in the Country towards the attainment of the same. Both Tilak and Besant toured all over the country and carried out the message of the Home Rule among the masses. Thus, the Home Rule Movement became a powerful Movement during the First World War. The Movement aimed at self-Government to be granted to India within the British dominions during the war. It was within Constitutional limits.

Gandhiji's next activity was in 1918 at Ahmedabad where agitation was going on between the industrial workers and the owners of a cotton textile mill for the Plague bonus. While Gandhiji was negotiating with the mill owners, he advised the workers to go on strike and to demand increase in Plague Bonus. Having advised the strikers to depend upon their conscience, Gandhiji himself went on a "fast unto death" to strengthen the workers resolved to continue the strike. The mill owners gave up, and a settlement was reached after 21 days of the strike. The mill owners agreed to submit the whole issue to a tribunal. The strike was withdrawn and later awarded the 35% Bonus that the workers had demanded. Ambalal Sarabhai's sister, Anasuya Behn, was one of the main lieutenants of Gandhi in this struggle in which her brother and Gandhiji's friend were one of the main advisories.
