

The Capability Approach was first articulated by the Indian economist Prof. Amartya Sen in the 1980s, and remains most closely associated with him. It was conceived as an alternative approach to welfare economics. The Capability Approach is defined by its choice of focus upon the moral significance of individual's capability of achieving the kind of lives they have reason to value. Here 'poverty' is understood as deprivation in the capability to live a good life, and 'development' is understood as capability expansion. The core focus of this approach is on what individuals are able to do (i.e., capable of).

2. In which year, the Pakistani economist Dr. Mahbub ul-Haq created the Human Development Index?

- (a) 1989 (b) 1990
(c) 1991 (d) 1988

B.P.S.C. Assistant Mains (GK) Paper II 2023

Ans. (b)

The concept of human development was introduced by Pakistani economist Dr. Mahbub ul-Haq in 1990. Human Development Index (HDI) is a summary measure of average achievement in key dimension of human development : a long and healthy life, being knowledgeable and having a decent standard of living. The HDI is the geometric mean of normalized indices for each of the three dimensions.

3. The capital adequacy standard for banks regulated by the Government of India is-

- (a) 5% (b) 6%
(c) 7% (d) 8%

43rd B.P.S.C. (Pre) 1999

Ans. (d)

The Wasley Committee constituted by the Bank of International Settlement first presented the concept of capital adequacy standard in the year 1988. Capital adequacy refers to the capital that should be held by the bank up to a certain level of creation of a professional asset. For example, if the capital adequacy ratio is set at 8%, it means that for every Rs.100 of business assets, the bank must maintain Rs.8 as capital. According to the recommendations of the Wasley Committee, the capital adequacy standard was started to be implemented in all banks in India from the year 1992-93. Prior to March 31, 2000, the capital adequacy norm was 8%. It has been decided to raise the capital adequacy ratio to 9% from the year 2019 under Basel III norms. As per RBI norms, Indian scheduled commercial banks are required to maintain a CAR of 9% while Indian Public sector banks are emphasized to maintain a CAR of 12%.
