Akbar

Akbar was born on 15 October 1542 AD, in Amarkot at Raja Veersaal Palace. *Akbar was coronated at Kalanaur, Gurdaspur city of Punjab, on 14th February 1556 AD. Akbar was less than 14 years old at that time. Shah Abdul Mali refused to join Akbar's coronation. Humayun called him “Farjand” (son). Bairam Khan was the patron of Akbar. Akbar appointed him as his “Wazir” and gave him title of “Khan-i-Khanan”. *Akbar had first established marital relations with “Kachhwaha” Rajputs. When Akbar was going to visit the Dargah of Khwaja Muinuddin Chishti, his route lay through the Rajput state of Amer. Its ruler, Raja Bihari Mal (Bharmal), with a view of safe guarding his position, offered his submission to Akbar at Sanganer and voluntarily proposed his daughter Princess Harkhabai marriage with him. Akbar accepted the offer and on his returning from Ajmer, married her in 1562. Thus Raja Bharmal was the first Rajput king to accept Akbar's supremacy of his own accord. Salim (later, Jahangir), heir to the throne, was born of this wedlock on August 30, 1569 AD.

*Akbar patronised Chishti sect, expressing his faith in Sufism. He frequently visited the Mausoleum of Khwaja Muinuddin Chisti at Ajmer. *He abolished Jizya, the pilgrimage tax and slavery in 1564 AD, 1563 AD and 1562 AD respectively under his liberal religious policy. *The abolition of child marriage and Sati took place in his reign. *He ordered that a man should marry only one wife and could marry another only when the first wife became barren.

The Battle that took place is famous as the Battle of Haldighati in which Rana was defeated and sought refuge in Aravali Hills. Mewar did not accept the supremacy of Akbar willingly. Rana Pratap of Mewar continued his struggle against Akbar for a long time. After the death of Rana Pratap, his son Rana Amar Singh signed a treaty with Jahangir in 1615 AD.

He was a secular emperor and the complete authority of the empire was vested in him. Therefore, he is considered as “an enlightened despot” like Queen Elizabeth of England and Frederick the Great, during whose reign all were equal before the law.

Under this system, the average production of different crops, as well as the average prices prevailing over the last ten years was calculated. One-third of the average was fixed as a land revenue for state. *Akbar annexed Gujarat in 1572-73 AD and established a city named Fatehpur Sikri. A class of historians believes that Akbar built Buland Darwaza of Sikri as a victory tower to commemorate his win over Gujarat (Khandesh), while Percy Brown states its construction on the occasion of his south victory (1601 A.D.). Akbar launched “Tauhid-i-Ilahi” or “Din-i-Ilahi” in 1582 A.D. Among Hindus, only Birbal accepted Din-i-Ilahi.
