26. Which one of the statements is not correct?

- (a) Ali Mardan Khan introduced the system of revenue farming in Bengal
- (b) Maharaja Ranjit Singh set up modern foundries to manufacture cannons at Lahore
- (c) Sawai Jai Singh of Amber had Euclid's 'Elements of Geometry' translated into Sanskrit
- (d) Sultan Tipu of Mysore gave money for the construction of the idol of Goddess Sharda in the Shringeri temple.

I.A.S. (Pre) 2003

Ans. (a)

Maharaja Ranjit Singh set up factory at Lahore, Amritsar to manufacture cannons. Sawai Jai Singh got translated Euclid's elements of geometry in Sanskrit. He established observatories in Mathura, Ujjain, Jaipur, Delhi and Varanasi. Tipu Sultan provided money for the construction of the idol of Goddess Sharda in Shringeri temple. Credit for introducing revenue farming in Bengal goes to Murshid Kuli Khan, not Ali Mardan Khan.

27. Consider the following statements:

- 1. In the Third Battle of Panipat, Ahmad Shah Abdali defeated Ibrahim Lodi
- 2. Tipu Sultan was killed in the Third Anglo-Mysore War

- (a) 1, 2 and 3
- (b) 3 only
- (c) 2 and 3
- (d) None

I.A.S. (Pre) 2004

Ans. (b)

In the Third Battle of Panipat (1761 A.D.), Ahmad Shah Abdali defeated the Marathas. Tipu Sultan was killed in the Fourth Anglo-Mysore War in 1799 A.D. During the war of Plassey (1757 A.D.), Mir Jafar conspired against Nawab Siraj-ud-Daulah supporting Britishers.

Governor/Governor General/ Viceroy

*Both Civilian and Military reforms took place during the period of Robert Clive. Under the civilian reform, a ban was imposed on the gift to officials and private trade. Under the Military reforms, he ended double allowance to the soldiers and since 1766 AD this allowance was only granted to soldiers who served outside the boundaries of Bengal and Bihar. *Under administrative reforms, Warren Hastings in 1772 A.D. ended the dual government system of Bengal by order of the Court of Directors. He transferred the State's treasury from Murshidabad to Calcutta. Warren Hastings believed that the whole land belonged to the ruler. To reform in Revenue field, he chose trial and error method. Warren Hastings in 1774 A.D. was made Governor-General of Bengal by the Regulating Act 1773 and an Executive Council of 5 members (one chairman and other members) was established to look after the affairs of Bengal. The Chairman of the Executive Council was called Governor-General. Several types of reforms in Police, Judiciary, Taxation, Faujdari related Acts etc. took place during the time of Cornwallis. Asiatic Society of Bengal was established on 15th January, 1784 A.D. in the tenure of Governor General Warren Hastings. *Warren Hastings and Wellesley were related to the Ring-Fence theory. *Impeachment proceedings were initiated on Hasting for injustices and atrocities committed by him but in the light of his service, proceedings which took place between the years 1788 A.D. and 1795 A.D. were stopped.

The following were the policies of Britishers towards Indian provinces:-

- 1- Company's struggle for equality with Indian provinces (1740-1765 AD)
- 2- Policy of Ring Fence (1765-1813 AD)
- 3- Policy of Subordinate Isolation (1813-1857 AD)
- 4- Policy of Subordinate Union (1858-1935 AD)
- 5- Policy of Equal Federation (1935-1947 AD)

Britishers developed a new system for justice delivery through hierarchical institutions consisting of Diwani and Faujdari Courts. This system was started by Warren Hasting but Cornwallis made it more rigid. He concentrated all powers in the hands of Collector. In 1787 A.D. the District Collector was made the Diwani Judge of Diwani Courts and was granted some Faujdari Powers to deliver Justice in some Faujdari cases too. In 1790-92 AD, District Faujdari Courts with Indian Judges were abolished and in their place four Circuit Courts, three for Bengal and one for Bihar, were appointed. These Courts were headed by European officials and the Justice was delivered with the help of Indian Kazis and Muftis. Cornwallis initiated his rule of specification of law which was absent from India previously. ‘Cornwallis Code’ is the collection of judicial reforms by Cornwallis in 1793 A.D. This reform was based on the law of ‘Separation of Powers’. He separated Revenue and Judicial administration. The judicial and faujdari power of collector was taken back and he was entrusted with powers related to taxation only. *A new hierarchy of officers was created for jobs in the District Diwani Courts. District Judges were given works of Faujdari and Police too. Indian Civil Services or Public Services was started by Cornwallis. Lord Cornwallis was the Governor General of Bengal from 1786 to 1793 and from 30th July, 1805 A.D. to 5th October, 1805 A.D. He died at Ghazipur (Uttar Pradesh) on 5th October 1805 A.D. His grave is present in Ghazipur. Treaty of Bassein (December, 1802) was made between Peshwa Bajirao II and Britishers. Subsidiary Alliance of Lord Wellesley was accepted by the Peshwa Bajirao II becoming the first Maratha chief to do so. According to subsidiary alliance, Peshwa accepted the offer of protection of English. As per the treaty, Britishers provided 6 thousands soldiers to reinstate Peshwa at Poona and the Peshwa promised lands are having revenues worth 26 lakhs annually as a payback. Lord Wellesley (1798-1805 A.D.) cleverly used subsidiary alliance as a tool to make Indian provinces as puppets of Britishers. He did not discover this method. This method was in practice earlier also but it gradually evolved and the final shape was provided by Wellesley. Dupleix was the first European to give his Army to an Indian ruler on the promise of a fixed payment to the Company. Britishers used these tactics too. First Subsidiary Alliance was signed in 1765 with Oudh where Company promised to protect the boundaries of Oudh on a fixed payment to the Company. *The evolved version of the Subsidiary Alliance of Lord Wellesley was accepted by the Princely States in the following Sequence- Hyderabad (1798 A.D. and 1800 A.D.), Mysore (1799 A.D.), Tanjore (October 1799 A.D.), Awadh (November 1801 A.D.), Peshwa (December 1802 A.D.), Bhonsle of Barar (December 1803 A.D.), Sindhiya (February 1804 A.D.), Jodhpur, Jaipur, Machheri, Bundi and Bharatpur. *Lord William Bentinck in July 1828 A.D. assumed the office of Governor-General of Bengal. He took some bold steps to eliminate evil social practices such as Sati system, Female Infanticide etc. On the will of Court of Directors, he tried to adopt neutral policies towards the Princely Indian States wherever possible. Mismanagement in Jaipur one time grew so high that the British Resident was attacked there but William Bentinck did not interfere. Similarly, he did not interfere in the internal matters of Jodhpur, Bundi, Kota and Bhopal when he had enough reasons to do so. Deviating from this policy, he merged Mysore in 1831 A.D. and provinces of Kurg (1834 A.D.) and Kachhar in 1832 A.D. into English Empire because of extreme mismanagement prevailing there. *During the seven- year rule of William Bentinck (1828-35 A.D.) the old policies of war and annexation were abandoned. William Bentinck is remembered for his contributions in the field of Administrative and Social Reforms. *By the Charter Act of 1833 an attempt was made towards totally centralised Administration. Governor-General of Bengal became Governor-General of India through this Act. Captain Sleeman was appointed by the William Bentinck to tackle the Thug Activities. He arrested 1562 thugs between 1826 to 1835 A.D. Many of them hanged and the rest of them were exiled. By 1837 A.D., the organized nature of Thugi ended. *By the declaration of 1789 A.D. the export of slaves from Bengal was stopped. Acts related to slaves were formulated in 1811 A.D. and 1823 A.D. The Charter Act of 1833 A.D. emphasized on formulating law by the Governor to end slavery as soon as possible. By 1843 A.D. slavery was declared illegal in most part of India. In 1860 A.D., Indian Penal Code declared slavery as a crime.

Anglo-Nepal War (1814-16 A.D.) took place during the time of Governor-General Lord Hastings (1813-23 A.D.) which ended with Sugauli’s Treaty. *In 1854 James Outram was made British resident of Oudh replacing Sleeman. He said the administration of Oudh is very polluted and the condition of the people was miserable. This report of Outram emerged as the base for the annexation of Awadh. Lord Dalhousie (1848-56 A.D.) blamed Nawab of Awadh Wajid Ali Shah for maladministration and, in February 1856 A.D., Awadh was annexed by Britishers. The States that were annexed through the policy of Doctrine of Lapse are - Satara (1848), Jaitpur and Sambalpur (1849), Baghat (1850), Udaipur (1852), Jhansi (1854), Nagpur (1854) etc. *Lord Dalhousie made the first attempt for construction of Rail Infrastructure in India. The first railway line was laid between Bombay to Thane in 1853 A.D. The Great Indian Peninsula Railway started the train travel in India. *Main Reason for the development of railways was to export raw materials from the inner parts of the country to different Ports of India. Its second objective was the swift movement of Army in remote and distant areas to easily suppress any kind of revolt taking place in any part of the country. *Maximum expansion of Railways took place during 1900 A.D. in the rule of Lord Curzon. *During Dalhousie a separate Public Work Department was established and a significant amount was spent on public work through this body. *With the efforts of Ishwarchandra Vidyasagar, Lord Canning in 1856 A.D., passed Hindu Widow Remarriage Act. According to section 15 (XV) of this Act, widow remarriage and the Child born to that marriage was legalized. Dhondo Keshav Karve and Vishnu Shashtri were two propagators of widow remarriage. Dhondo Keshav in 1899 A.D. established a widow Ashram in Poona. Queen's Proclamation of 1858 was the most important result of the 1857 revolt. This proclamation was announced on 1st November, 1858 AD by Lord Canning at a Court held in Allahabad. This Act ended the Company rule and put the affairs of India under the direct control of the British Crown. Lord Canning was made first Viceroy of India. Queen Victoria was made the Sovereign of India in 1858 AD and a Grand Delhi Darbar organized in January 1877 AD. She was conferred the title of Kaiser-e-hind. *Under Governor-General Auckland, first Anglo-Afghan war took place in 1839-1842 A.D. Lord Lytton was the Governor-General when second Anglo-Afghan war broke in 1878-1880 A.D. By Act-V of 1843 Slavery was abolished by Governor-General of India Lord Ellenborough. During his tenure (1842-44 AD) in August 1843 AD Sindh was fully merged into British Empire. The policy of Masterly Inactivity in Anglo-Afghan relations was started during Lord Ellenborough and continued till Lord North Brooke. This period is called the Period of Masterly Inactivity. This policy is often recognized with John Lawrence because during his time at the office, he got full chance to follow this policy and evolution of this policy took place in his time only. Masterly Inactivity word is taken from an Article published by J.W.S Viley. First Census took place in 1872 A.D. during Lord Mayo (1869-72 A.D.). Proper census took place in 1881 A.D. during Lord Rippon. Lord Mayo (1869-72 A.D.) was killed during an excursion in Andaman and Nicobar Islands group by a prisoner named Sher Ali Afridi. Mayo was the Viceroy who was killed while holding the office. In 1876 A.D., Lytton became Viceroy and changed his policies towards Afghanistan. Vernacular Press Act of 1878 A.D. was passed during Lord Lytton. This Act is also called the Silencing Act. Arsecan Perry termed this act as a dangerous step towards India's right to expression. Sri S.N. Banerjee termed this act as lightning from the sky. Sir C.P. Ilbert who was the law member of Viceroy executive council, on 2nd February, 1883 in Legislative council presented a bill known as Ilbert Bill. This Bill was aimed at equalizing both European and Indian Judges so that Indian judges can hereby try a European convict in various criminal cases changing the decade-old provision of barring Indian civil servants from doing so. This Bill was aimed at ending any judicial disqualification based on caste. The Bill faced a severe opposition by Britishers as they perceived this as an attack on their privileges. Lord Ripon is believed to be most pro-Indian Viceroy of British India. He made some lenient laws in favour of women and children employed in factories numbering 100 or more, this was called as First Factory Act, 1881. According to this act, a ban was imposed on the employment of children below 7 years in factories and the working hours of children aged 7 to 12 years were reduced to 9 hours daily and they got 4 leaves in a month. Second Factory Act, 1891 made week holidays possible. Lord Ripon is known as the father of the local government. Charles Metcalfe removed the restrictions on the press, he is also known as the liberator of Indian Press. In 1784 A.D., Sir William Jones founded Asiatic Society in Calcutta and steps were taken towards Archaeological Survey of India. Alexander Cunningham was appointed as the Archaeological Surveyor in 1861. In 1871, Archaeological Survey was made a separate body and Cunningham was made its Director-General. *During the tenure of Lord Curzon (1899-1905 A.D.) in 1901 The Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) became integrated and centralized and in 1902, John Marshall (appointed in 1901) assumed office of the Director General of this body. The Ancient Monument Protection Act, 1904 allocated 50,000 Pound for the protection and maintenance of the historical monuments of India. Gopal Krishna Gokhale compared the rule of Curzon with Mughal Emperor Aurangzeb.

*In November, 1905 Lord Minto replaced Lord Curzon and John Morley was made Secretary of State for India. They both proposed Morley-Minto Reforms (1909 A.D.) which granted separate electorate to Muslims. During the tenure of Lord Hardinge-II (Charles Hardinge) Capital of India was shifted to Delhi from Calcutta. He invited Queen Mary and George V in a Grand Darbar organized at Delhi which is known as third Delhi Darbar (1911 A.D.). In this Darbar, the partition of Bengal was abolished and the announcement was made for the transfer of Capital from Calcutta to Delhi.

1. Consider the following statements:

- 1. Robert Clive was the first Governor-General of Bengal.
- 2. William Bentinck was the first Governor-General of India.

Which of the statements given above is/are correct?

- (a) 1 only (b) 2 only
(c) Both 1 and 2 (d) Neither 1 nor 2

I.A.S. (Pre) 2007

Ans. (b)

Under Regulating Act, 1773 the British parliament provided the system of colonialist government in Bengal. The government consisted of a chairman and four members. The Chairman was known as Governor-General. Warren Hastings was appointed as the first Governor-General of Bengal. Thus statement 1 is incorrect.

Charter Act of 1833 was an attempt by the British government to centralize the Indian administration. The Governor-General of Bengal was made Governor-General of India by this Act. Lord William Bentinck was appointed as the first Governor-General of India. Thus, statement 2 is correct.

As per the option following is sequence of events :

Battle of Buxar 22/23 October, 1764

Clive's re-arrival in India 3 May, 1765

Treaty of Allahabad August, 1765

Warren Hastings became Bengal's Governor 1772 A.D.

Note - There is an error in this question. It is wrong to call Warren Hastings the Governor of India. Warren Hastings became the governor of Bengal in 1772 A.D., and became the governor general of Bengal in 1774 A.D.

5. Which one of the following statements is not true?

- (a) The foundation of the system of civil administration, was firmly laid down by Warren Hastings on which the superstructure was raised by Cornwallis.
(b) Clive was responsible for reforming the East India Company's Civil and Military Services.
(c) Lord William Bentinck was one of the greatest British rulers as he consolidated the British Empire in India
(d) Lord Dalhousie added rich semitones to the British Empire on the basis of the Doctrine of Lapse.

U.P.P.S.C. (GIC) 2010

Ans. (c)

Clive led both civilian and military reforms. Under civil reforms, he banned gifts and private businesses. He made internal tax compulsory. Under military reforms, he ordered to ban dual allowance system. From 1766 A.D. it was given only to those soldiers who worked outside the borders of Bihar and Bengal.

The foundation of the system of civil administration was firmly laid down by Warren Hastings which was outlined by Cornwallis. His rule lasted from 1786 A.D. to 1793 A.D. and from 30 July, 1805 A.D. to 5 October, 1805 A.D. remembered for two events, the introduction of the permanent settlement into Bengal and the Third Mysore War. Lord Dalhousie (1848-56 A.D.) merged Satara in 1848, Jaitpur and Sambalpur in 1849, Bhagat in 1850, Udaipur in 1852, Jhansi in 1854 and Nagpur in 1854 under the doctrine of Lapse. Lord Dalhousie merged Awadh in 1856 on the ground of alleged misgovernance.

9. The policy of 'Security cell' is related with-
- (a) Warren Hastings (b) Lord Dalhousie
(c) Henry Lawrence (d) Lord Hastings

U.P.P.C.S. (Pre) 2006

Ans. (a)

The policy of 'Security Cell' is related to Warren Hastings and Wellesley. Warren Hastings fought with Mysore and Marathas to achieve status equivalent to other Indian states. During this time the company tried to form buffer state (also known as Ring Fence) with an aim to protect its state from Afghans and Marathas. Thus, they agreed to protect Oudh on the condition that the Nawab of Oudh would bear the expenses. The main aim of Wellesley was to enforce Indian states to rely on his army power. The British policies towards Indian states were-

1. Company's struggle for equality with Indian provinces. (1740-1765 AD)
2. 'Security cell' or the policy of siege. (1765-1813 AD)
3. Subordinate separation policy. (1813-1857 AD)

21. Which one of the following statements does not apply to the system of Subsidiary Alliance introduced by Lord Wellesley?

- (a) To maintain a large standing army at other's expense
(b) To keep India safe from Napoleonic danger
(c) To secure a fixed income for the company
(d) To establish British paramountcy over the Indian States

I.A.S. (Pre) 2018

Ans. (c)

Governor-General Lord Wellesley came to India in 1798 A.D. at a time when the British were locked in a life and death struggle with France all over the world. The fear of Napoleon haunted the Britishers everywhere. To achieve his political aims, Wellesley relied on the system of Subsidiary Alliance. While the practice of helping Indian rulers with a paid British force was quite old, it was given shape by Wellesley who used it to sub-ordinate the Indian states to the paramountcy of the company. Under the subsidiary Alliance system, the ruler of the allying state was compelled to accept the permanent stationing of a British force within his territory and to pay a subsidy for its maintenance. However, to secure a fixed income for the company was not under the agenda of the Subsidiary Alliance.

22. First Maratha Sardar to accept the subsidiary alliance of Lord Wellesley was-

- (a) Peshwa Bajirao- II (b) Raghuji Bhosle
(c) Daulat Rao Sciandia (d) None of the above

41st B.P.S.C. (Pre) 1996

Ans. (a)

The subsidiary alliance system was introduced in India by Lord Wellesley. The main principles of a subsidiary alliance were –

1. An Indian ruler entering into a subsidiary alliance with the British had to accept British forces within his territory and also agree to pay for their maintenance.
2. The ruler would accept a British resident in his state.
3. An Indian ruler who entered into a subsidiary alliance would not enter into any further alliance with any other power.
4. The ruler would not employ any Europeans other than the British.
5. In case of a conflict with any other state, he would agree to the resolution decided by the British.
6. The ruler would acknowledge East India Company as the paramount power in India.
7. In return for the ruler accepting its conditions, the company undertook the protection of the state from external dangers and disorders.
8. If the Indian ruler failed to make the payments required by the alliance, then part of its territory was to be taken away as a penalty.

The Nizam of Hyderabad was the first to enter into such an alliance. Maratha ruler Bajirao II (1802 A.D.) also accepted a subsidiary alliance. Several states like Hyderabad (1798 A.D.), Tanjore and Mysore (1799 A.D.), Awadh (1801 A.D.), Bhonsle (1803), Sindhiya (1804 A.D.), Holkar (1818 A.D.) etc. adopted this system.

- (b) English and Bajirao- II
- (c) French and Bajirao- I
- (d) Dutch and Bajirao- II

U.P. P.C.S. (Mains) 2012

Ans. (b)

The Treaty of Bassein (Now called Vasai) was a pact signed on December 31, 1802 A.D. between the English East India Company and Bajirao II, the Maratha Peshwa of Pune (Poona) in India after the Battle of Poona. In this treaty, Bajirao-II was restored as Peshwa in Pune with around 6 thousand English forces were permanently stationed with the Peshwa to protect him for which 26 lakh was to be paid to East India Company.

24. The first Indian ruler who joined the Subsidiary Alliance was –

- (a) The Nawab of Oudh
- (b) The Nizam of Hyderabad
- (c) Peshwa Bajirao II
- (d) The King of Travancore

I.A.S. (Pre) 1994

Ans. (a)

Lord Wellesley (1798-1805) cleverly used a subsidiary alliance as a tool to make Indian provinces puppets of Britishers. He did not discover this method. This method was in practice earlier also but it gradually evolved and the final shape was provided by Wellesley. Dupleix was the first European to give his army to an Indian ruler on the promise of a fixed payment to the Company. Britishers used these tactics too. First Subsidiary Alliance was signed in 1765 with Awadh where Company promised to protect the boundaries of Awadh on a fixed payment to the Company. The evolved version of the Subsidiary Alliance was accepted by the Princely States in the following Sequence- Hyderabad (1798 AD and 1800 AD), Mysore (1799 AD), Tanjore (1799 AD), Oudh (1801 AD), Peshwa (1802), Bhonsle of Barar (1803 AD), Sindhiya (1804 AD), Holkar (1818 AD), Jodhpur, Jaipur, Machheri, Bundi and Bharatpur.
Note : Hyderabad will be the answer if it is asked first state to join Wellesley's subsidiary alliance.

29. Who introduced the Subsidiary Alliance System in the administration to establish British power over the Indian States?

- (a) Warren Hastings
- (b) Lord Wellesley
- (c) Lord Cornwallis
- (d) Lord Dalhousie

U.P.P.C.S. (Mains) 2016

Ans. (b)

The doctrine of Subsidiary Alliance System was introduced by Lord Wellesley, British Governor-General of Bengal from 1798-1805. He also adopted a policy of non-intervention in the princely state but later adopted the policy of Subsidiary Alliance. The Nizam of Hyderabad was the first to enter into such an alliance.

30. The main aim of East India Company to make a subsidiary alliance in Rajput states was-

- (a) Receiving military support against enemies
- (b) Protecting these states from Maratha-Pindari invasion
- (c) To receive funds in the form of Khiraj
- (d) To establish the sovereignty of the British

R.A.S./R.T.S. (Pre) 1992

Ans. (d)

Lord Wellesley used the subsidiary alliance to bring Indian states within the ambit of the British political power. This helped to establish the sovereignty of the British Empire.

31. Which of the following is not correctly matched?

- (a) Battle of Buxar – 1764
- (b) Subsidiary Alliance – 1863
- (c) Monopoly of East India Company in India – 1833
- (d) Opening of trade in India for British citizens and companies – 1813

U.P. U.D.A./L.D.A. (Spl.) (Mains) 2010

Ans. (b)

Subsidiary Alliance was codified by Lord Wellesley in 1798 A.D. and Hyderabad became first state in 1798 A.D. and 1800 AD to accept this. Rest of the options are correctly matched.

32. At a time when empires in Europe were crumbling before the might of Napoleon, which one of the following Governors-General kept the British flag flying high in India?

- (a) Lord Dalhousie
- (b) Lord Cornwallis
- (c) Lord Wellesley
- (d) Lord Hastings

I.A.S. (Pre) 1999

Ans. (c)

Lord Wellesley moved to India in 1797 A.D., which was the darkest period of British history. The front made of European powers against France had been disbanded. Napoleon had conquered Egypt and Syria and was seriously thinking about attacking India. In that condition, Lord Wellesley used a subsidiary alliance in India, which helped him to establish the sovereignty of the British power and the fear of Napoleon was averted.

- (a) Lord Wellesley
- (b) Lord Hastings
- (c) Lord William Bentinck
- (d) Lord Harding

U.P. Lower Sub. (Pre) 2004

U.P. P.C.S. (Pre) 2003

Ans. (c)

Lord William Bentinck took charge of Governor-General in July, 1828. He made effective efforts to abolish Sati system, infanticide and established peace in the country by ending the social evils. According to the wishes of the 'Court of Directors,' he adopted the policy of neutrality towards the Indian States. The chaos took such an ugly turn in Jaipur that there was an attack on British residents. But Lord Bentinck did not accept to interfere in that. Like this, he did not accept to interfere in Jodhpur, Bundi, Kota and Bhopal because of certain reasons. Excluding this policy, he annexed Mysore in 1831 A.D., State of Kurg (1834 A.D.), Kachhar in 1832 A.D. and Jayantia in 1835 A.D. because there was too much chaos in those states.

The meaning of Sati is 'holy and virtuous woman.' In Hindu rituals, the marriage is considered as Sanskar which means 'relation of spirits.' The Brahmins of the 18th century used to believe that if a woman became Sati, seven generations of his husband will achieve heaven. It was quite famous among highly reputed Brahmins, Kshatriya and Rajputs. Few conscious rulers of India also tried to abolish this system, Akbar was one of them. Marathas entirely abolished this system in the state. Portuguese and French also tried to abolish this system in Goa and Chandranagar respectively. It was Raja Ram Mohan Roy who started his campaign against Sati practice. The Bengal Sati Regulation, or Regulation XVII (17), A.D. 1829 of the Bengal Code was a legal act promulgated in Bengal Presidency. In 1830, this regulation was also implemented in Madras and Bombay Presidencies. Then Governor-General Lord William Bentinck which banned the practice of sati system.

- (a) David Ochterlony
- (b) Charles Metcalf
- (c) Arthur Wellesley
- (d) John George

R.A.S./R.T.S. (Pre) 2018

Ans. (b)

Lord Hastings sought to impose British Paramountcy in India for which suppression of the Marathas and the Pindaris was essential. He looked upon the Rajputana states as his natural allies against the Marathas and the Pindaris. Charles Metcalf was entrusted with the duty of negotiating alliances with princely states of Rajputana.

86. Which of the following is not correctly matched?

- (a) Lord Cornwallis: Permanent Settlement
- (b) Lord Wellesley: Subsidiary Alliance System
- (c) Sir John Shore: Anglo-Nepal War
- (d) Lord Hastings: Third Anglo-Maratha War

U.P.P.C.S. (Mains) 2014

Ans. (c)

The Anglo-Nepal war took place during the period of Lord Hastings. The first Anglo-Nepal War was fought in 1814 A.D. and ended without any result. The second Anglo-Nepal War took place in 1815 A.D. Almora in Kumaon was won and Major-General Ochterlony forced Veer Gorkha Sardar Amar Singh to hand over the Fort of Malwa, as a result, the British army was only 30 miles away from Kathmandu. The ruler of Nepal signed the Treaty of Sagauli in 1815 A.D. (Rectified - 1816 A.D.) and handed over Kumaon, Garhwal and Shimla districts to the British.

87. Which one of the following is correctly matched?

- (a) Lord Ellenborough - Annexation of Awadh
- (b) Lord Dalhousie - Annexation of Sindh
- (c) Lord Wellesley - Fourth Anglo-Mysore War
- (d) Sir John Shore - Third Anglo-Maratha War

U.P.P.C.S. (Mains) 2013

Ans. (c)

The correctly matched list is as follows-
 Lord Ellenborough - Annexation of Sindh in British state in 1843 A.D.
 Lord Dalhousie - Annexation of Awadh charging maladministration in 1856 A.D.
 Lord Wellesley - Fourth Anglo-Mysore war (1799 A.D.)
 Lord Hastings - Third Anglo-Maratha War (1817-18 A.D.)
 Thus, option (c) is correctly matched.

88. Which one of the following pairs is not correctly matched?

- (a) Lord Dalhousie - Annexation of Awadh
- (b) Lord Dufferin - Establishment of Indian National Congress
- (c) Lord William Bentinck - Passing of the Charter Act, 1833

- (d) Lord Lytton - Beginning of first Anglo-Afghan War

U.P. Lower Sub. (Pre) 2013

Ans. (d)

Option (d) is not correctly matched. The First Anglo-Afghan War was fought between the English East India Company and Afghanistan from 1839 A.D. to 1842 A.D. during the tenure of Governor-General Lord Auckland. The second Anglo-Afghan war (1878-80 A.D.) was fought during the tenure of Lord Lytton.

(c) Only 2, 3 and 4 (d) 1, 2, 3 and 4

69th B.P.S.C. (Pre) 2023

Ans. (d)

The Indian Council Act of 1861 implemented the strategy of legislative devolution, and the probable outcome of this was Mayo's Resolution of 1870, focusing on financial decentralization. The Imperial Government, prompted by administrative efficiency and financial constraints, opted to transfer the control of certain administrative departments – including education, medical services, and roads– to provincial governments. This marked the inception of local financial management. To ensure fiscal stability, provincial governments were granted the authority to rely on local taxation for balancing their budgets. Lord Mayo's resolution had delineated. "Local interest, supervision, and care are necessary to success in the management of the funds devoted to education, sanitation, medical relief, and local public works. The operation of this resolution in its full meaning and integrity will afford opportunities for the development of self-government, for strengthening municipal institutions, and for the association of Natives and Europeans to a greater extent than heretofore in the administration of affairs".

99. Lord Lytton is not associated with which of the following?

- (a) The Strachey Commission
- (b) The Arms Act
- (c) The Vernacular Press Act
- (d) The Ilbert Bill

69th B.P.S.C. (Pre) 2023

Ans. (d)

Lord Lytton was an English politician who served as the Viceroy of India from 1876 to 1880. His tenure as Viceroy was marked by a controversial policy known as the Vernacular Press Act of 1878, which aimed to regulate the Indian vernacular press and limit its freedom of expression. The policies introduced included the Indian Arms Act of 1878, according to which, it was a criminal offence for Indians to carry arms without a license. The Act was discriminatory as it did not apply to the British, Anglo-Indians, Europeans, and certain government personnel. Famine Codes were given by the Famine Commission that was set up in 1878 under the Chairmanship of Sir Richard Strachey (Strachey Commission) during the tenure of Lord Lytton only. The infamous ‘Famine Codes,’ have been criticized for their handling of the 1876-1878 famine in India, which resulted in significant loss of life.

Ilbert Bill on the other hand was introduced in 1883 by Lord Ripon that allowed Indian Judges and Magistrates to try British Offenders in criminal cases at the district level.

U.P.P.C.S. (Mains) 2009

Ans. (a)

Among all the British Viceroys, Lord Curzon had the longest tenure as the Viceroy of India.

Lord Curzon	-	1899-1905 = 7 years
Lord Dufferin	-	1884-1888 = 4 years
Lord Hardinge	-	1910-1916 = 6 years
Lord Mayo	-	1869-1872 = 3 years

101. Local Self-Government institutions in India were strengthened in 1882 by :

- (a) George Barlow
- (b) Lord Ripon
- (c) Lord Curzon
- (d) Lord Lytton

U.P.P.C.S. (Pre) 1994

Ans. (b)

In 1880 A.D., the Liberal Party came to power in England under the leadership of Gladstone. He was a supporter of freedom. Lord Ripon was appointed as Viceroy during this period. The landmark in the development of local self-government was Lord Ripon’s resolution of 1882. The historic resolution was issued on May 18, 1882 A.D. Ripon wanted to develop the municipalities in the country. According to him, the political education of the country begins with this. Under this proposal, local boards were established in rural territories. The resolution was passed to build district sub-division, Tehsil or Taluka in every district. The municipalities were established in the cities. These institutions were given several tasks and sources of income.

102. Who was responsible for encouraging the local self Govt. in India?

- (a) Imposition of certain restrictions to carry by the Indians
- (b) Imposition of restrictions on newspapers and magazines published in Indian language
- (c) Removal of disqualifications imposed on the Indian Magistrates about the trial of the Europeans
- (d) Removal of duty on imported cotton cloth

I.A.S. (Pre) 2013

Ans. (c)

The Ilbert Bill was a bill introduced in 1883 A.D. for British India by Viceroy Ripon that proposed an amendment to existing laws in the country to allow Indian Judges and Magistrates to try British offenders in criminal cases at the district level, something that was not allowed before. The introduction of the bill led to intense opposition in Britain and from British settlers in India that ultimately played on racial tensions.

104. The first Factory Act for restricting the working hours of women and children, and authorizing local government to make necessary rules was adopted during whose time?

- (a) Lord Lytton
- (b) Lord Bentinck
- (c) Lord Ripon
- (d) Lord Canning

I.A.S. (Pre) 2007

Ans. (c)

Lord Ripon is considered as the most liberal Viceroy of India. He made the First Factory Act 1881, which tried to facilitate the position of workers. This Act prohibited the employment of children below 7 years of age and the employment of children 7-12 years of the age for more than 9 hours and also provided four days off in a month.

105. Consider the following statements :

1. The Factories Act, 1881 was passed with a view to fix the wages of industrial workers and to allow the workers to form trade unions.
2. N.M. Lokhande was a pioneer in organizing the labour movement in British India.

Which of the above statements is/are correct?

- (a) 1 only
- (b) 2 only
- (c) Both 1 and 2
- (d) Neither 1 nor 2

I.A.S. (Pre) 2017

Ans. (b)

The Factories Act, 1881, prohibited the employment of children under the age of seven, limited the number of working hours for children between the age of 7-12 and required that dangerous machinery should be fenced properly. The act was focused on the security of the labours who were a child. N.M. Lokhande was a pioneer of the labour movement in India. He is remembered not only for ameliorating the working conditions of textile mill-hands in the 19th century but also for his courageous initiatives on caste and communal issues. Therefore, only statement 2 is correct.
