Quit India Movement for India's Independence was launched on 9th August 1942. Gandhiji gave a statement before the official launch of Quit India Movement. - (b) It was led by Mahatma Gandhi.
- (c) It was a spontaneous Movements.
- (d) It did not attract the labour class in general.

I.A.S. (Pre) 2011

Ans. (*)

Quit India Movement of 1942 A.D. was not so non-violent. According to official assessments, in first week 250 railway stations were either damaged or destroyed, and more than 500 post offices and 150 police stations were attacked. Heavy violence was used for the suppression of the movement from the ruling party. Mahatma Gandhi himself in 1942 A.D. refused to condemn the violence. He said it was an answer to the huge violence of the rulers. The arrest of the main leaders (including Gandhiji) before even start of movement had made the movement more aggressive and spontaneous. The movement did not attract the labour class in general (due to reasons like monetary constraints, fear of repression, effect of trade unions etc.) in comparison to other sections of society like students, farmers etc. Thus, options (a) and (b) are individually not correct.

- (c) It was a non-violent movement
- (d) It was a spontaneous movement

U.P.R.O./A.R.O. (Pre) (Re-Exam) 2016

Ans. (*)

Because of arrest of all major leaders on 8 August, 1942 A.D.; "Quit India Movement" became a spontaneous movement. Since Gandhiji was in jail, he never got to lead the movement. During the movement, a lot of violence did happen, hence it was not a non-violent movement. After the announcement of movement, Congress was declared illegal. Hence, both (a) & (c) options are correct. However, UPPSC has accepted option (b) as the correct option.

Uttarakhand U.D.A/L.D.A. (Pre) 2003

Ans. (b)

After the failure of Cripps Mission in March, 1942 A.D., it seemed clear that the British Government wanted to continue the partnership with India in Second World War without their consent but was not ready for any sacred agreement. Gandhiji declared in his 'Do or Die' speech 'that "I do not want to make the instrument either of Russia's defeat or of China's." But it seemed by spring 1942 A.D. that the struggle was inevitable. Thus, Congress passed Quit India Resolution in August, 1942 A.D. Gandhiji had never provoked to adoption of violent means in his articles. Thus, statement 3 is not correct while the other statements are correct about 'Quit India Movement.'
