See the explanation of above question.

39. Given below are two statements, one is labeled as Assertion (A) and the other as Reason (R).

Assertion (A) : Turkish invasions on India were successful.

Reason (R) : There was no political unity in North India.

Select the correct answer from the codes given below:

- (a) Both (A) and (R) are true, and (R) is correct explanation of (A).
- (b) Both (A) and (R) are true, but (R) is not the correct explanation of (A).
- (c) (A) is true, but (R) is false.
- (d) (A) is false, but (R) is true.

U.P.P.C.S. (Pre) 2018

Ans. (a)

There are many reasons for the success of Turkish invasions in India, however, the most prominent of them was the constant warfare among the Indian rulers.

India, at that time, was divided into small kingdoms. There were many small kingdoms in North and Western India (present-day Pakistan), and this made Turk's work easy. A strong kingdom in the north would have deterred Turks.

40. Below are two statements, one of which is an Assertion (A) and the other is a Reason (R):

Assertion (A): The Turkish invasion of India was successful.

Reason (R): There was no political unity in northern India.

Choose the correct answer from the options given below :

- (a) Both (A) and (R) are true, and (R) is the correct explanation of (A).
- (b) (A) is false, but (R) is true.
- (c) Both (A) and (R) are true, but (R) is not the correct explanation of (A).
- (d) (A) is true, but (R) is false.

U.P. P.C.S. (Pre) 2024

Ans. (a)

Several Turkish rulers, including Mahmud of Ghazni and Muhammad Ghori, invaded northern India between the 11th and 12th centuries. Among these, Ghori's invasion had a more significant impact, leading to the establishment of the Delhi Sultanate, which laid the foundation for Muslim rule in India. During this period, the political conditions in India were highly fragmented, with many small and independent states. Due to this lack of unity, it was easy for the invaders to achieve victory and establish control. There was no unified resistance against them.

Thus, both (A) and (R) are true, and (R) correctly explains (A).

Delhi Sultanate: Slave Dynasty

*Incumbents of the Delhi Sultanate from 1206 AD to 1290 AD are popularly known as the sultans of the Slave dynasty, whose founder was Qutbuddin Aybak. *They were all Turks, and their dynasties were separate. *So it is more appropriate to call them the original Turk Sultan or Mamluk Sultan of Delhi, instead of calling these sultans as the sultans of the Slave dynasty.

*The first ruler of the Slave Dynasty in India was Qutbuddin Aybak (1206 - 1210 AD). *He was from a Turk tribe called Aybak. *In childhood, he was bought by the Qazi of Nishapur Fakhruddin Abdul Aziz Kufi as a slave. *From childhood he used to read the Quran in a very melodious tone, which made him famous as the Quran Khwan (the one who recites the Quran). *Later, he was brought from Nishapur to Ghazni where Ghori bought him. *On the basis of his talent, passion and honesty, he gained the confidence of the Ghori. *Ghori promoted him to the post of Amir-i-Akhur. His coronation was held in June 1206 AD, three months after the death of Ghori. *Aybak's capital was Lahore. *Aybak never held the title of 'Sultan'. *He kept himself satisfied only with the titles of 'Malik' and 'Sipahasalaar'. *After obtaining the liberation letter from Ghori's successor, Ghiyasuddin Mahmud, Aybak got rid of slavery in 1208 AD. *Due to his generosity, Qutbuddin Aybak used to donate so much money that he was called by the 'Lakh Bakhsh' (Giver of lakhs). *Aybak had built mosques known as 'Quwwat-ul-Islam' in Delhi and 'Adhai Din Ka Jhopra' in Ajmer. *He started the construction of 'Qutub Minar' in Delhi, which was completed by Iltutmish.

*The fourth Storey was damaged by lightning which was rebuilt by Firuz Shah Tughluq, also spelt Feroz Shah Tughluq. He rebuilt the fourth floor of Qutb Minar as well as built the fifth floor. *Sultan Qutbuddin Aybak died in 1210 AD when he fell from a horse while playing Chaugan (a game like modern polo). *He was buried in Lahore.

* Iltutmish received the approval as Sultan not from any Ghor ruler, but from the Khalifa. *Khalifa recognised the rule of Iltutmish to all those areas which he won and gave him the title of 'Sultan-e-Azam'. *Iltutmish was called 'Slave of a slave' [Aybak (who himself was a slave), whose slave was Iltutmish]. *Iltutmish was a Turk of 'Ilbari' tribe. *Before becoming Sultan, he was the governor of Budaun. *He was with Muhammad Ghori and Aybak during the campaign to suppress the Khokhar tribe rebellion in 1205 - 1206 AD. *In the war, Ghori was so influenced by the courage and skill of Aybak that he freed him from slavery.

*Mongol invader Genghis Khan came through the northwest frontier of India during the reign of Iltutmish. Chasing son of the ruler of Khwarizm Shah, Jalaluddin Mingburni, Genghis Khan reached the bank of Indus river. Jalal-ud-din-Mingburni sought refuge from Iltutmish. Iltutmish dared not to risk the invasion of a dangerous and furious invader like Genghis. So, he prudently refused to give asylum to the Khwarizm. Mongol invasion trouble also went back with Prince Mingburni in 1224 AD. *Iltutmish defeated Hisamuddin Awaz in mountains of Rajmahal near Teliyagarhi and annexed Bihar Sharif and Barh. Awaz had accepted the subordination to Iltutmish. Iltutmish appointed Malik-Jani as the new Subedar of Bihar.

*Iltutmish was the first to use the pure Arabic coins during the Sultanate period in India. He introduced two important coins, i.e. silver (Tanka) and copper (Jital) during the Sultanate period and started the tradition of inscribing the name of the Tankshal on the coins. *Iltutmish received a certificate of 'Khilat' from Caliph of Baghdad in 1229 AD, which made Iltutmish a legitimate Sultan and the Delhi Sultanate an independent state. *It is known from the Ibn Battuta's description that Iltutmish had set up two statues of Lions of marble in front of his palace, which had two bells hanging around their neck which anyone could ring and seek justice from the Sultan. *Iltutmish appointed the officials Qazi and Amir-i-dad in all the cities. *According to Dr. R. P. Tripathi, the history of Muslim sovereignty in India begins with Iltutmish. * According to Dr. Ishwari Prasad, Iltutmish was, undoubtedly, the founder of Slave Dynasty.

Raziyya Sultan (1236-40 AD) was the first female ruler of medieval India. *As an individual, she violated the traditions of Islam for the first time in India, and politically, she emphasized the power to be in the hands of the Sultan instead of dividing it among the Chiefs (Sardars) or the Subedars, and thus, she supported the principle of absolutist dominated monarchy of Iltutmish, which was in the interest of the Turkish Rule at that time. *Turks played an important role in overthrowing Raziyya Begum. *Turks under the leadership of Governor of Bhatinda, Malik Altunia, rebelled against Raziyya and overthrew her.

*The full name of Sultan Balban was Ghiyasuddin Balban. *Balban ruled the Sultanate from 1266 to 1286 AD as Sultan. * He was also known as Ulugh Khan. *Like Iltutmish, he was also an Ilbari Turk. *He laid the foundation of a new dynasty, the Balban Dynasty. *Balban was caught by Mongols in his childhood, who sold him at Ghajini to Khwaja Jamaluddin, a resident of Basra. *He was brought to Delhi in 1232 AD, where Iltutmish bought him in 1233 AD after Gwalior's victory. *Impressed by his abilities, Iltutmish gave him the title of Khasdaar. *During the reign of Raziyya, he earned the rank of Amir-i-Shikar. *In the conspiracy against Raziyya, he was with the Turkish warlords, consequently Bahramshah became the Sultan, and Balban got the title of 'Amir-i-Akhur'. *Due to the grace of Badruddin Rumi, he got the Jagir of Rewari. Alauddin Masudshah became the Sultan with help of Turkish Amirs in which Balban played an important role, consequently he got the Subedari of Hansi. *Balban married his daughter to Sultan Nasiruddin in 1249 AD. On this occasion, he was given the title of 'Ulugh Khan' and the post of 'Nayab-i-mamalikat'. *Balban sat on Delhi's throne in 1266 AD.

*It is said about Balban that he adopted a policy of 'blood and iron'. *There were two main characteristics of the rule of Balban - First the divine right of Sultan and second the Sultan had to be autocratic. *Balban had created his political ideology inspired by the popular heroes of Persia. The King was considered the God's representative on earth - 'Niyamat-i-Khudai'. *According to him, he is only after the Prophet in the pride and prejudice. *'Zille Allah' or 'Zil-i-Ilahi' means Reflection of God. *He was the first Sultan of Delhi, who established the theory of the state. *He told his son Bugra Khan - "The post of Sultan is a living symbol of autocracy." *Balban started many traditions of the Iranian emperors in his court. He started the rituals of 'Sijada' (saluting the Sultan in a prostrate manner) and 'Paibos' (kissing the feet of Sultan). In his court, he started the practice of celebrating the Persian festival 'Nawruz' with great joy every year. *Balban established a military department 'Diwan-i-Arz' to combat Mongols. * Balban made Imad-ul-Mulk his Military minister (Diwan-i-Arz), who was a very honest and hardworking person. *He kept him free from the financial control of the Wazir so that he did not lack wealth.

The first ruler of the Slave Dynasty (or Ghulam Dynasty) was Qutbuddin Aybak who ruled from 1206 A.D. to 1210 A.D. He established his capital at Lahore. Qutbuddin Aybak was born in Turkistan. Though he was ugly in appearance, he was intelligent and impressive in behaviour. He was taken as a prisoner and sold to the Qazi of Nishapur named Fakhruddin as a slave in his childhood. He was taken care and provided with proper education and military training by the kind-hearted Qazi but soon after the death of the Qazi, his sons sold Aybak to Muhammad Ghori. He was well-versed in Islamic theology, horse riding and swordsmanship. Owing to his skill and qualities, he soon attracted the attention of his master and was appointed commander of a troop. Shortly after battles; he was promoted to the post of Amir-i-Akhur, the master of the royal stable. When Ghori invaded India, Aybak came with his master and provided him with active support during battles. The successes of his master by and large depended on his military skill. Ghori was immensely pleased with him, and he appointed him his governor of the Indian empire. In 1206 A.D., on his way to Ghazni, Ghori died. His empire was inherited by his slaves, as he had no son to succeed him. Aybak, who was a viceroy of his Indian Empire was invited by the Amirs of Lahore to assume the powers. He bestowed the title of Malik and Sipahsalar on himself. Muhammad Ghori had no male successor to inherit his empire; hence his nephew, Ghiyasuddin Mahmud ascended the throne of Ghori after his death in 1206 A.D.

Ans. (a)

Muhammad-Bin-Tughluq had shifted his capital from Delhi to Daulatabad (Devgiri). It was one of the most significant experiments of Muhammad-Bin-Tughluq. Various factors have been identified for this experiment. According to Barani, Devgiri probably was at the center of his empire. According to Ibn Battuta, the people of Delhi used to write undeferential letters to Sultan. To punish them he decided to make Devgiri his capital. Muhammad Tughluq was also the first Sultan of Delhi who tried to establish the administrative and cultural unity of northern and southern India. Probably this was also the main reason behind making Devgiri his capital. According to Dr. K.A. Nizami, Sultan Qutbuddin Mubarak Khalji had changed the name of Devgiri to Qutbabad and Muhammad Tughluq to Daulatabad. Devgiri is also known as Quwwat-ul-Islam.

Muhammad-Bin-Tughluq launched different types of coins during his period and also decided on their reasonable prices. But the circulation of token currency was his specialty. According to Barani, due to lack of silver in treasury and policy of expanding the empire, Muhammad Tughluq had to launch the token currency. The token currency was launched in Iran during the regime of Gaykhatu, though, the experiment was unsuccessful. The token currency was successfully launched during the period of Kublai Khan. Innovative Muhammad-Bin-Tughluq was inspired by them. The modern historian also notes that there was a shortage of silver all over the world, and there was a severe shortage of silver in India too. Due to this reason, he launched token currency.

12. Who among the following was the first Sultan to introduce token currency in India?

Thus, Assertion (A) is true, but Reason (R) is false.

Assertion (A) : The scheme of the token currency of Muhammad Tughluq proved unsuccessful.

Reason (R) : Muhammad Tughluq did not have the proper control over currency issue.

- (c) (A) is true, but (R) is false.
- (d) (A) is false, but (R) is true.

The main reason behind the failure of token currency was that the state had no control over the minting of coins. The value of the token currency was equivalent to the silver value currency. As a result, many fraud mints were formed. The Lagan began to be paid by forged coins.

5. With reference to medieval India, which one of the following is the correct sequence in ascending order in terms of size?

- (a) Paragana – Sarkar – Suba
- (b) Sarkar – Paragana – Suba
- (c) Suba – Sarkar – Paragana
- (d) Paragana – Suba – Sarkar

I.A.S. (Pre) 2021

Ans. (a)

With reference to medieval India, entire empire was divided into Suba (province). 'Subedar' was head of administration of Suba. For better administration, every Suba was divided into smaller units called Sarkar whose head was 'Fauzdar'. Every Sarkar was further divided into 'Pargana' or 'Mahal'. Shiqdar was head of this unit. There were villages under Pargana, which were called 'Mavada' or 'Deeha'. 'Nagla' were small colonies under Mavada. During the reign of Shahjahan another unit was formed between Pargana and Sarkar called 'Chakla' under which a few Parganas came. Hence with reference to medieval India, the correct sequence in ascending order in terms of size is – Pargana-Sarkar-Suba.

He had a proper knowledge of military composition, administration and financial system of Mughals. He was the head of the central government. His administration was completely centralised before victory over Bengal. He divided the whole kingdom into 47 Sirkars (districts) (According to Dr. Kanungo).

A non-military official Amir-i-Bengal was also appointed for assistance. This arrangement was made for the abolishment of revolt threat.

(3) Military Reforms: Sher Shah introduced many reforms in military sector for empire consolidation. He was inspired by reforms of Alauddin Khalji. He recruited and paid the soldiers directly and every soldier had his chehra (face) recorded and his horse branded with an imperial sign, to stop fraud.

Akbar was born on 15 October 1542 AD, in Amarkot at Raja Veersaal Palace. *Akbar was coronated at Kalanaur, Gurdaspur city of Punjab, on 14th February 1556 AD. Akbar was less than 14 years old at that time. Shah Abdul Mali refused to join Akbar's coronation. Humayun called him “Farjand” (son). Bairam Khan was the patron of Akbar. Akbar appointed him as his “Wazir” and gave him title of “Khan-i-Khanan”. *Akbar had first established marital relations with “Kachhwaha” Rajputs. When Akbar was going to visit the Dargah of Khwaja Muinuddin Chishti, his route lay through the Rajput state of Amer. Its ruler, Raja Bihari Mal (Bharmal), with a view of safe guarding his position, offered his submission to Akbar at Sanganer and voluntarily proposed his daughter Princess Harkhabai marriage with him. Akbar accepted the offer and on his returning from Ajmer, married her in 1562. Thus Raja Bharmal was the first Rajput king to accept Akbar's supremacy of his own accord. Salim (later, Jahangir), heir to the throne, was born of this wedlock on August 30, 1569 AD.

*Akbar patronised Chishti sect, expressing his faith in Sufism. He frequently visited the Mausoleum of Khwaja Muinuddin Chisti at Ajmer. *He abolished Jizya, the pilgrimage tax and slavery in 1564 AD, 1563 AD and 1562 AD respectively under his liberal religious policy. *The abolition of child marriage and Sati took place in his reign. *He ordered that a man should marry only one wife and could marry another only when the first wife became barren.

*Akbar killed Adham Khan, the son of Maham Anga in 1562 AD as he assassinated Akbar's Prime Minister, Atgah Khan. Durgavati was the custodian (in the name of her minor son) of the Hindu Kingdom of Gondwana. The Battle that took place is famous as the Battle of Haldighati in which Rana was defeated and sought refuge in Aravali Hills. Mewar did not accept the supremacy of Akbar willingly. His central administration policies and interpretation of the role of the King, his duties and authorities, his provincial administration, his revenue system, his monetary policies, his mansabdari custom, etc. were successful during the period and became the foundation for his successors. *Akbar was a great ruler whose empire extended from Bengal to Afghanistan in the north and Kashmir to the Godavari in the South. He was a secular emperor and the complete authority of the empire was vested in him. Therefore, he is considered as “an enlightened despot” like Queen Elizabeth of England and Frederick the Great, during whose reign all were equal before the law.

Ain-i-Dahsala is a land revenue system introduced by Akbar in the 24th year of his reign (1580 A.D.) which is also known as Todarmal Bandobast. The founder of this system was Todarmal. That is why it is known as Todarmal settlement.

At that time, Todarmal was the finance minister and his main assistant was Khwaja Shah Mansoor. Under this system, the average production of different crops, as well as the average prices prevailing over the last ten years was calculated. One-third of the average was fixed as a land revenue for state. *Akbar annexed Gujarat in 1572-73 AD and established a city named Fatehpur Sikri. A class of historians believes that Akbar built Buland Darwaza of Sikri as a victory tower to commemorate his win over Gujarat (Khandesh), while Percy Brown states its construction on the occasion of his south victory (1601 A.D.). Akbar launched “Tauhid-i-Ilahi” or “Din-i-Ilahi” in 1582 A.D. Among Hindus, only Birbal accepted Din-i-Ilahi.

*Jahangir's contemporary Mohsin Fani stated first Din-i-Ilahi as an independent religion in his text “Dabistan-i-Mazahib”.

*Akbar had constructed a fort-cum palace around 37 km away from Agra at Fatehpur Sikri. There are several buildings found in this Fort, Jodha Bai Mahal, Panch Mahal, Swarn Mahal or Sunahala Makaan, Diwan-i-Aam, Diwan-i-Khas, Mariyam Ki Kothi, Birbal Ki Kothi are some of them. *The palace of Turkish Sultan is so beautiful that Percy Brown has called it a “Pearl of Architecture”. Panch Mahal was a pyramid-shaped palace built on the pattern of a Buddhist monastery.

*The tomb of Akbar is located at Sikandara, a small village founded by Sikandar Lodi. Akbar named this place Bahistabad. 1579 A.D. Mahzarnama was prepared by Shaikh Mubarak (Father of Abul Fazl). Mahzarnama is stated as infallibility decree by Smith and Wolseley Haig. Akbar was titled with Sultan-i-Adil or Imam-i-Adil after the issue of Mahzar. *Akbar used to participate in festivals such as Basant, Holi, Diwali etc. According to Lenpool, the unification of Hindu kings was the most common feature of Akbar's time. Akbar was the first among the monarchs of medieval India to raise the policy of religious tolerance to the pinnacle of secularism. The socio-political condition of the country was such that Akbar thought it was advisable to adopt independent views in religious matters. The non-Muslims constituted the majority of his Indian subjects. Without winning their confidence and active support, Akbar could not hope to establish and consolidate the Mughal rule in India. Religion had played the role of a divisive force in Indian society ever since the advent of Islam which most of its people had refused to embrace. Akbar fully understood the centrifugal tendencies of the complex Indian socio-political order and made a serious attempt to eliminate these by separating religion from politics. To win the goodwill of Hindus, he abolished the pilgrimage tax and Jizya. Freedom of worship, matrimonial alliances with Hindus, high civil and military positions to Hindus, translation of Hindu scriptures, establishment of Ibadatkhanas, issue of infallibility decree, freedom to construct temples, land grants, considerations of Hindu sentiments, reforms in Hindu society were some measures adopted by Akbar to establish religious harmony but he had not forsaken Islam.

Ans. (d)

Aurangzeb was the governor of Deccan first time during 1636-44 A.D. in the reign of Shah Jahan, and he was the governor of Deccan second time during 1653-1658 A.D.

Aurangzeb

*Aurangzeb succeeded Shah Jahan to the Mughal throne but not with the rule of succession of eldest son but by the force of sword. The sword was a symbol of power in the Mughal period. The decision of succession was settled only by the strength of the sword. *The coronation of Mughal emperor Aurangzeb was held twice. His first coronation was held on July 21, 1658 in Delhi. His second coronation took place after the success in the battle of 'Khajwa' and 'Devarai' in Delhi, on June 5, 1659. Assuming the title of 'Abul Muzaffar Muhiuddin Muhammad Aurangzeb Bahadur Alamgir Padshah 'Ghazi', he sat on the throne as the Mughal emperor.

*There was a battle between Aurangzeb and Dara Shikoh on April 15, 1658, in Dharamat, near Ujjain in Madhya Pradesh. Dara Shikoh was supported by Raja Jaswant Singh of Jodhpur and Aurangzeb was supported by Prince Murad. *The Battle of Samugarh took place on May 29, 1658 between Aurangzeb's and Murad's joint forces against Dara Shikoh in which Dara Shikoh was defeated.

Shahzada Sulaiman Shikoh, son of Dara Shikoh, who was defeated by Aurangzeb in the war of succession and sought refuge from the ruler of Srinagar Garhwal Prithvi Singh. But his successor Medini Singh handed him over to Aurangzeb. *Sulaiman Shikoh was imprisoned in Gwalior's Fort and there he was killed by excessive dose of opium.

*In the beginning on 1665 A.D., Aurangzeb sent a large army under the leadership of Raja Jai Singh to suppress Shivaji. Jai Singh was the Kachhwaha ruler who was expert in both the arts of peace and war. He was a clever diplomat and he understood that it was necessary to have a friendship with Shivaji to win Bijapur. Hence, despite the victory of the Mughals on the fort of Purandar and the siege of Raigarh, he made a treaty with Shivaji. The Treaty of Purandar took place in June 1665 A.D. Muhammad Akbar, the rebellious son, revolted against his father in 1681 A.D., weakening Aurangzeb's position against Rajputs. Akbar was disappointed with the war against the Rajputs. He did not believe in the success of his father's fanatic policy and he was generous with ideas. On the same occasion, King Raj Singh of Mewar and Durgadas, the Rathore leader of Marwar proposed to him that if he declared himself the king of India, the forces of both Mewar and Marwar would help him. The contemporaries of Aurangzeb considered him as a 'Shahi Darvesh' and Muslims considered him as a 'Zinda Peer'. When Aurangzeb was appointed the Subedar of the South for the second time, he adopted an aggressive policy against Golconda and Bijapur, perhaps he would have demolished both of these states, but according to the order sent by Shah Jahan in consultation with Dara Shikoh, the battle was suspended and he had to do treaty in 1656 A.D. with Golconda and in 1657 A.D. with Bijapur.

*After becoming the emperor, he took his plan to logical conclusion and established control over Bijapur (1686 A.D.) and Golconda (1687 A.D.). During the reign of Aurangzeb, most of the commanders in the Mughal army were Hindus. During his reign, 31.6 percent of the total generals were Hindu, among whom Marathas were more than 50%. During Akbar's reign proportion was 22.5 percent and 22.4 percent during the reign of Shah Jahan.

*Akbar had the abolished Jizya during his reign but Aurangzeb re-imposed it on non-muslims into 1679 A.D.

*The Hindus were categorised into three classes for the purpose of paying tax:

- (i) Those with income less than 200 Dirham per annum, had to pay 12 Dirham per annum as tax.
- (ii) Those with income 200 to 10,000 Dirham per annum, had to pay 24 Dirham per annum as tax.
- (iii) Those with incomes more than 10,000 Dirham per annum had to pay 48 Dirham per annum as tax.

*Women, slaves, children under 14 years, beggars and unemployed persons were exempted from it. The subordinate Hindu kings and Brahmins were compelled to pay this tax.

*Aurangzeb was a Sunni Muslim. *His religious policy was not influenced by any idea of worldly profit. *Aurangzeb tried to enforce the Quranic law, according to which, Muslims needed to carry on Jihad (Holy wars) against non-Muslim lands (Dar-ul-Harb) till they were converted to Islam (Dar-ul-Islam). He stopped putting tilak with his hands on the forehead of the Hindu kings as was started by Akbar. Prostitutes were to marry or leave the country. There was a ban on celebrating Basant, Holi, Diwali etc, in the court.

*Aurangzeb built the mausoleum for his beloved wife Rabia-Ud-Daurani in Aurangabad (now Chhatrapati Sambhaji Nagar) (Maharashtra). It is also known as 'Bibi Ka Maqbara'. Its architectural style was based on the well-known 'Taj Mahal'. So, it is also called 'Second Taj Mahal'. Moti Masjid inside Red Fort in Delhi was built by Aurangzeb.

Mehrissa was the daughter of Aurangzeb while Jahan Ara, Roshan Ara and Gauhar Ara were the daughters of Shah Jahan. The other daughters of Aurangzeb were Jebunnisa, Jinatunnisa, Badrunnisa and Jubadtunnisa. Aurangzeb bestowed the title of 'Sahibat-uz-Zamani' to Jahan Ara.

Samarth Ramdas was the great Saint of Maharashtra. He was born in 1608 A.D. and died in 1681 A.D. He was the contemporary to the Mughal king Aurangzeb.

Mir Bakshi was responsible for the smooth functioning of the Mughal Mansabdari system. The Mansabdari system was the administrative system introduced by Akbar in Mughal Empire. The word 'Mansab' is of Arabic origin meaning rank or position. Hence Mansabdari was a system of ranking the government officials and determining their civil & military duties, along with their remuneration. Mansab meant rank or status. Mansabdars or officeholders were divided into 33 classes and were paid in cash according to their respective grades. There were exceptions to this rule, particularly when the mansabdar was serving in a difficult terrain amidst the rebels. In such cases, the state often increased the sawar rank without altering the zat rank. Obviously, the system was not a static one. It changed to meet the circumstances. Thus, reform was the use of conditional rank (Mashrut), which meant an 'increase of sawar rank for a temporary period. So, option (c) is the correct answer.

- (d) Neither 1 nor 2

I.A.S. (Pre) 2019

Ans. (d)

During Akbar's period, all the territory was broadly divided into two : Khalisa & Jagir. Right to collect revenue was to utilize the same for their salary & to meet their military obligation. The judicial & police functions were performed locally by Zamindars. An important feature of the Jagir System was shifting of jagir-holders from one jagir to another for administrative reasons. This system of transfers checked the jagirdars from developing local roots. Thus, jagirs were transferable & could be seized too. Zamindars, on the other hand, were hereditary.
