On 24 April 1993, the Constitution 73rd (Amendment) Act 1992 became effective. It is worth mentioning that it was passed in 1992. The Act gave state governments the authority to take the required actions to formalize Gram Panchayats and enable them to function as self-governing entities.

The 73rd Amendment Act was introduced by the central government of India in 1992 to solve these problems and enhance local self-governments. Part IX: 'The Panchayats' is a new chapter that was added to the Constitution as a result of this Amendment Act.

In this Act judicial power was not decentralized. The 73rd and 74th Amendment Acts provide a basic framework of the decentralisation of powers and authorities to the Panchayati Raj/Municipal bodies at different levels. However, responsibility for giving it a practical shape rests with the States. States are expected to act in accordance with the spirit of the Acts to establish a strong and viable system of Local Self-Government.
